Camp Hagen Quarantine Zone

Soldiers,

given recent events at Angelview Hospital and subsequent troubles within Khelson Bay, I am hereby invoking the full breath of powers granted to me by the Joint Quarantine Reserve Unit, as established by President Joe Biden and Surgeon General Vivek Murthy, as approved by the United States Department of Health and Human Services under the Emergency Powers the President invoked a few days ago.

Starting now Camp Hagen will be expanded significantly to house the citizens of Khelson Bay and surroundings in a fashion that allows us to concentrate our forces and offer better protection.

All construction companies will be required to participate in the efforts and a smaller task force has been set up to gather citizens on unemployment benefits as well as social security to be pressed into service as workers for the project. Any volunteers you know among the citizenry are welcome to join and every worker will receive fair and equitable recompense for their labor.

Starting on the 28th all civilians will be moved to Camp Hagen insofar as possible. During the upcoming population shift, it is vital to remind people that while they are in Camp Hagen, we can protect them more easily and will provide them with all supplies necessary (meaning food, water and hygiene).

If you encounter any resistance during this shift, you are urged to be discreet and direct but try and avoid any fights. Should elements of the population refuse, leave them until a later date and work on shifting the remainder of the civilians instead. Should any citizens who refuse attempt to further interfere with your task, you are free to detain them as necessary.

Should any citizens open fire on you, you are ordered to fight back only as needed to safeguard your life and that of those around you. Retreat and resolve the issue diplomatically, if at all possible. Report any incidents to Camp Hagen immediately.
